

Pending Internet Computerized Testing PiCAT

The PiCAT is computerized version of the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) used for military entrance purposes. Until now, only public school students were offered the yearly opportunity to take the ASVAB. Online high school students can now take the PiCAT in the comfort of their own home if interested in serving our great country, The United States of America!

The PiCAT consists of 10 different aptitude areas

- General Science
- Arithmetic Reasoning
- Word Knowledge
- Paragraph comprehension
- Mathematical Knowledge
- Electronics Information
- Automotive Information
- Shop Information
- Mechanical Comprehension
- Assembling Objects

ADVANTAGES:

- Administered in comfort of own home
- Decreased testing stress
- Multiple choice
- Test offers questions based on skill level of tester
- Easy login access / Internet interruption does not affect testing
- Approximately 20-30 minutes long (48 hours to complete)
- o Versus 2.5 hours to complete ASVAB
- Know your score immediately
